

Christmas Eve Usher

More people come to Christmas Eve mass than any other mass, and so many come to the early masses. So we need lots of help. The job of the ushers is to be the first friendly face people see when they walk in. They also hand out the worship aids, let people know where there are seats, take up the collection, and help people to know when to go to communion.

Psomi takes everyone who volunteers through a practice the morning of Christmas Eve at 10:30 am in the gym. Then a volunteer parent coaches the teens through all that has to be done during the course of the mass.

Ushers need to be at the church about a half hour before the early mass, and 20 minutes before the second mass.
